For French Poles, go to Julius Lansburgh. The Great Revival.

One of the most successful revivals ever known in the history of Hamline M. E. Church, is now progressing with increasing interest at every service. In the short time that the young revivalist, Rev. Thomas Harrison, has been laboring in this church over 100 persons have bowed at the altar, seeking religion, and a large number have professed conversion Last night the meeting was one of the most remarkable interest. The evangelist, or "boy preacher," as he is called, gave an exhortation on the "danger of neglect," and young and old were drawn by his persuasive power, and in a few minutes the altar, front pews, and side seats were taken for the penitents who desired to seek religion. Husbands and wives, parents and children, and a large number of young men bowed at the altar. The interest among the young men is very great, and with young men Mr. Harrison always has great success. The same success that has crowned Mr. Harrison's labors in other places is now attending his work at Hamiline Church. Great praise and revival service is to be held to-night. The Anthropological Society. The meeting of the Anthropelogical Society at the Smithsonian Institute was very well attended, several ladies being among the audience, Major Powell presided and Professor Mason officiated as secretary. The wedding presents were numerous and costly, the room in which they were displayed resombling a jewelry store in miniature.

Queer Legislature of the State of Louisiana State Lottery Company has been announced in the papers; but it appears that the injury intended to an institution which has paid by contract bundreds of thousands of dollars to keep the doors of the far-famed Charity Hospital open for the sick and suffering cannot be accomplished. The supreme Court of the United States has always maintained that the sanctity of such contracts cannot be violated, and hence, for twenty-five years from its organization in 1865, it will continue its work of usefulness and benevolence.
